

Professional English - I

Unit - I - Introduction to Fundamentals of Communication

Grammar - Present Tense (Simple and Progressive)

The Simple present tense is used for permanent actions, to describe daily events, facts or as a narrative form for stories that takes place in the present.

Structure of Simple Present Tense.

I, we, You, They — read, write, come, go, play,

He, she, It — watch, study plays, watches, studies.

For the verbs that end in 'ss', 'o', 'sh', 'ch' or 'x', we add 'e's. If the final letter of the verb ends in 'y', and if it is proceeded by a vowel, then we just add 's'. But if the final letter is 'y' and it is proceeded by a consonant, we remove the final 'y' and add 'ies'.

Example

Play — plays

study - studies

Uses of Simple present Tense

② For habitual Actions

They get up at 6'o'clock daily.

We go to ooty every year.

also plz I read stories at night

③ For general Truths

The Earth goes round the Sun.

The Sun rises in the East.

④ For Official programmes in the future

The train arrives at 10.

The Chief Minister inaugurates the function tomorrow.

The match starts at 6 pm.

⑤ To Introduce Quotations

Shakespeare says, All the world's a stage.

Thivalluvor says, Water cleans us eternally while truthfulness makes us pure at heart.

⑥ In exclamatory Sentences:

It is used with 'he' and 'there'

'Here' comes your friend!

'There' goes the bus!

'Here' he comes!

⑧ In running Commentaries

He kicks the ball

There goes the bus

He scores a goal

The ball goes past the gallery.

⑨ Vivid Narrative / Dramatic Narrative

I get off the bus.

I see two men fighting

A few people watch them

Present Continuous / Progressive Tense.

The present continuous, also called the present progressive is a form used for indicating an action or condition which is happening now, frequently, any may continue to the future.

Structure of Present Continuous Tense

After have (do, does, do not, did, did not)

He/She/It/They/Is plural are are

They/We/You - are

① things that are happening now (at the time of speaking).

Eg "she is eating dinner right now and cannot answer the phone".

Negative form

Eg: They're not watching TV at the moment.

Temporary events:

For longer actions that may be taking place for a temporary period only, we can use present continuous tense to describe them.

Eg

"He is learning a new language at the moment."

"My sister is staying with us for a week."

Future plans:

When describing something that will take place in the future, the present continuous tense can be used when we are discussing something that is already discussed are planned ahead.

Eg

When we arrive at the airport, we are taking a private car to the hotel.

Wh Questions

Sentences that are used to make enquire or ask for information are called Interrogative or Question Sentences. We use wh- words to ask about different types of information.

Question patterns

There are two common question patterns for the simple present tense in English. One common pattern is: Wh-word plus do + subject + verb.

Where do you live?

Where do I live?

Where do they live?

Where does he live?

Where does it live?

We use 'does'

is he, she, it, or a singular noun. We use 'do' when the subject is I, we, you, they or a plural noun.

Another

Wh-word plus be + subject + verb.

Wh-word + be + subject.

How are you?

'be' changes forms with different subjects

How is she?

How is it?

How are they?

Who do you want to invite to your birthday?

Why does he like rainy days?

Yes/No Questions

Yes/No questions are those questions that expect 'yes' or 'no' as answer. These questions do not take the question words when, what, what etc. Yes/no questions are used to check information or ask for confirmation.

When we answer yes/no questions we do not normally repeat that complete the question. Instead, we use appropriate auxiliary verb. This auxiliary is usually present in the question.

Does Mike live with you? Yes, he does.

Did Maya tell you she wasn't coming? No, she didn't.

In negative answers we use the auxiliary verb and usually with contracted form is used.

'Have you ever visited Argentina?

'Yes, I have.'

'Will you help me?' 'No, I won't.'

Present Simple

'Do you speak English?

'Yes, I do.'

'Does she speak English?'

'No, she doesn't.'

Present Continuous

'Are you coming with us?' 'Yes, I am.'

'Is it raining?' 'Yes, it is.'

'Is it snowing?' 'No, it isn't.'

Present perfect

'Have you received the letter?'

'Yes, I have.'

'Has he returned from Mumbai?'

'No, he hasn't.'

Past Simple

'Did you know the answer?' 'No, I didn't.'

Did he get the letters? Yes, he did!

Past Continuous

'Were you sleeping then?' 'Yes, I was.'

'Was he reading his lessons? No, he wasn't.'

Future Simple

'Will you come with me?' 'Yes, I will.'

'Will you help me? No, I won't.'

Unit - 5 Expression

Future Tenses

The future tense of verbs express events or actions that have not yet happened and that will happen at some point in the future.

structure
Subject + will + base form of verb.

The simple future is used to express:

promises, predictions - It will rain tomorrow.

habits, routine - The meeting starts at noon.

Future progressive Tense starts to

The future progressive expresses actions that will be ongoing (actions that the subject will be in progress (doing) at some point in the future.)

To form the future progressive
Subject + will be + present participle and going to end of the verb.

The future progressive is used to express future actions in progress.

- Eg They will be waiting for you.
She will be retiring soon.

Future Perfect Tense.

The future perfect tense expresses actions that will be finished at some point in the future or those that will be finished before another future event.

To form the future perfect;

Subject + will have + past participle of the verb.

The future perfect is used to express:

* Actions that will be finished at some point.

Eg

* By the time you arrive, we will have eaten dinner.

* Actions that will be finished before another future event.

Eg

They will have lived in their new home for two years this fall.

To form Future perfect continuous

Tense

The future perfect continuous tense expresses ongoing actions that will be completed at some specified time in the future.

To form the future perfect continuous

Subject + will have been +

Present participle (-ing "to end of the verb").

The future perfect continuous tense is used to express actions that will be completed at specific future times.

* Ongoing actions completed at specific future times.

e.g. In June I will have been working as a professor for 15 years.

You will have been driving for 10 hours by the time we arrive.

Fill in the blanks with the appropriate form of the verb given in the brackets.

I shall have finished my job by evening. (finish)

It has been passing through a bleak period. (pass)

We will be resuming the match on Monday. (resume)

You may go if you wish to. (go)

- 1) we — (complete) our work by 7 Pm tomorrow.
2) I — (work) here five years in this office by the end of the March.

Future perfect continuous

Future perfect continuous expresses an action that will be in progress or a period of time.

Eg

By next year, we shall have been living here for five years.

Punctuation

The most common punctuation marks in English are: capital letters and full stops, question marks, commas, colons and semi colons, exclamation marks and question marks.

In speaking, we use pauses and the pitch of the voice to make what we say clear. Pronunciation plays a similar role in writing, making it easier to read.

In speaking punctuation consists of both rules and connections. There are rules of punctuation that have to be followed, but there are also pronunciation connections that give writers greater choice.

Content words vs Function words

Each word in English belongs to one of the eight parts of speech. Each word is also either a content word or a function word.

Content - information, meaning

Function - necessary words for grammar

Content words

Content words are usually nouns, verbs, adjectives and adverbs.

Noun - person, place or thing

Verb - action, state

Eg

They are not working hard.

He is playing the question guitar

He is not happy. Isn't he happy?

You aren't hungry. Aren't you?

Change the following questions into negatives

1) Do they live in a house?

Don't they live in a house?

2) Why did John buy the old guitar?

Why didn't John buy the new guitar?

Negation (Statements and Questions)

In English, a sentence is commonly negated by inserting by inserting a single negative word like not, don't, didn't, won't etc.

Negation can happen in a number of ways. Most commonly, when we use a negative word such as no, not, nobody, none etc. e.g.

Is there a bus at ten o'clock?

No. The last one goes at nine.

John doesn't play the piano

It is not true that John plays the piano

Nobody came to the house for several days.

Statement (Negation)

We form negative statements with 'not' or 'n't' after be, modal and auxiliary verbs.

eg Jane is not coming today. She is not feeling well.

She might not be joking. It could be true.

They don't go to school on Wednesday afternoons.

Question (negations)

We use 'not' or 'n't' to form negative questions. When there is no modal verb or 'be', we use the auxiliary verb do+not (don't, do not, does not, did not, didn't).

Why didn't you ask license?

Why don't you understand?

Who wasn't at the party?

Yes or no question (negation)

Yes or no questions are questions which we answer with 'yes' or 'no'.

Complex Sentences

A complex sentence can also be referred to as multi-clause sentence. Connectives are used in complex sentences include after, although, as, because, if, since, unless, when.

Eg - The big dog barked whenever I knocked the door.

Exercises

Connect the following simple sentences into compound sentences.

- 1) Being well ill, he didn't attend the party.
- 2) Besides being pretty, she is clever.
- 3) Inspite of his illness, he attended the class.
- 4) Being guilty, he went into hiding.
- 5) Being innocent, he never thought of running away.

Simple, Compound and Complex Sentences.

The sentence is generally defined as a word or a group of words that express a thorough idea by giving a statement/order, or asking a question or exclaiming.

Eg

* He is a good boy (statement)

* Is he a good boy ?

* what a nice weather (Exclamatory)

Sentences are of 3 types

Simple sentences

A simple sentence must have a single verb.

Eg I always wanted to become a writer

Compound sentences

A compound sentence is formed when you join main verb with a connector

Eg I like the bananas and I like grapes.
